Chapter 1 by Magdalene

I'm Amy McAllister.

A few years ago, I used to live a normal life, coming to a soda bar every afternoon with my friends, going to the movies then criticizing it even if I loved it.

But that all changed. I was sucked into an arcade game with my friend. We learned to live, play the games, and make friends. We became some of the most popular people in those games.

We were the first humans to live between worlds: Arcade and Reality.

Then the virus came ...

I know it'll take all we have to stop it and someone must die because, well, I helped create it in the labs.

Now Ava, my friend, and I must stop the Virus before the Games die.

Chapter 2 by Anonymous ;)

I don't know what I was doing in the labs. I was just toying around with some things when bam an explosion made a virus out of nowhere. The worst thing about this whole Virus thing is I have no idea how to stop it. I just mixed a bunch of pretty looking chemicals and then bam virus came out. I don't know the names of the chemicals. Even if I did know then I wouldn't know how to deactivate them once we found it.
